

CHAPTER 33

Rob, for his part, breathed a sigh of relief to be able to get out of the bathroom as soon as Sam left Eva's house. Although he also had to leave, against his will, as he had obligations to attend to at home. He called Maya, so that she came to replace him, but Eva stopped him. "Don't worry, Rob, after what happened, you don't have to bother Maya. I'll be fine. It's late, and we all need to rest. It has been a very intense day, and I think I will be able to fend for myself, at least tonight."

"Actually, I don't know if you have been aware of everything you have advanced"

"What are you talking about?"

"Well, you have been independent in several heads at the same time. You were with Sam, me and yourself at the same time, multitasking a lot!"

Eva stared at him with several thoughtful heads.

"Don't look at me like that, it's true. And with a naturalness that you did not have as soon as I entered here. I didn't want to tell you anything, because it seemed like..."

"What??" Eve asked impatiently.

"As if sex somehow helps you learn more about your own body, manage yourself better"

"Wow, I hadn't seen it like that..." Eva's three torsos looked at each other, with doubtful expressions.

"So..." Penny started to say as she floated towards Rob "I'll have to keep practicing to get even more experience, right?"

Rob blushed a little.

"Uh, sorry, I didn't mean to insinuate that..." Middi said

"No, no, don't worry, you're right, I guess your new body is made for one thing. Of course, you can count on me" Rob said, winking at him, and showing a lascivious smile.

The experience, which had been very intense, flashed through his mind again. But he had to go outside, and he couldn't afford a new erection.

After getting dressed, and putting the sock back on his body (with Eva's help, of course) they said goodbye. It was Penny who accompanied Rob to the door, and giving each other a hug, they said goodbye.

"Are you sure you'll be okay?" Rob asked

"Yes, calm down. Now I also need to know myself on my own. But thank you very much for everything. I'll let you know with any news."

As soon as she closed the door, Eva's 5 heads let out a deep sigh. She mentally reviewed the intense scenes experienced with her new body, and several chills went up her 5 necks, to the point that several more penises became erect again. Penny entered the room again, and crawling she placed himself on top of her own back ready to work on the erect penises. Middi looked at Penny with a strange face, she was still herself, but somehow, she didn't really need to masturbate again, but through Penny, she did. It was a strange feeling of mental separation, it seemed like Penny had a different libido...

But Eva allowed herself to act, almost as if they were two separate consciousnesses. To be honest, it wasn't an unpleasant feeling.

But when she felt alone again, her mind began to rethink everything that had happened. And 5 heads turning things over are a lot of heads. Her life, as she knew it, was indeed over. Her parents, when they came back, were going to hallucinate. She could no longer live in this house, it was too small. Her relatives, her acquaintances, her career, her hopes for the future... everything was going to change radically.

However, all of these thoughts somehow conflicted with the feelings that she was having right now, with Penny sucking one penis and masturbating two others, in a totally casual and almost involuntary way (Penny was almost in automatic mode!) . And this clash of thoughts convinced her that as much as things were going to change, her body was truly amazing. She was convinced that as hard as it was, she was going to make up for it.

But then she remembered the origin of all this: Alex!!

She had injected most of the vials in a fit of rage and frustration. But she still had that obligation to Alex, she had to help him take down her damn company. She approached the briefcase that she had left her, and with her legs she raised it to the height of her three torsos. Lefty and Rigthy held the briefcase, while Middi examined what was inside one more time. There were still two vials left. It crossed her mind to inject them, with the crazy thought of...once they got here...but she quickly put it out of her mind. Perhaps she would need them as evidence, she didn't think of that before injecting them.

She reviewed the documents, and especially the instructions that Alex had left her on about who and how to deliver all this material. It all seemed pretty well thought out, but there was one thing Alex hadn't thought of.

If she really reported his lab, he would be framed as well. She had to do something to save him. He already seemed to have assumed his fate, and he was convinced to become a martyr to stop the madness. But Eva did not want to admit that fate. If she turned over the evidences, following Alex's instructions, there would be no turning back, and Alex would be doomed

Despite herself, Eva found that having 5 heads does not mean that you are 5 times smarter. The rest of the night she spent turning over the different options. She couldn't find a way to denounce her company without Alex being exonerated, as he had been an important part of the organization.

It was past 2 in the morning... and Eva suddenly realized that she had slept with Virgin and with Penny (She was still hugging penises on her back).

"This is new...so I can fall asleep on some heads, while awake on others?" Middi said, speaking directly to Lefty.

Lefty and Middi looked at each other.

"I'm an idiot... I'm talking to myself" Lefty replied. Then the three torsos looked down, checking that indeed her other two heads were asleep, and Penny even snoring. Eva concentrated, and she could feel the unconsciousness of the other heads. She was even able to feel that she was dreaming! Without a doubt, having several heads was quite an interesting experience. What other surprises awaited him?

After 4 o'clock in the morning, it was the three torsos that were beginning to feel a bit tired, but then she woke up with Penny. She laid her body down and placed her gigantic torso in a horizontal position, so that all three of her torsos were comfortable on top of her own large breasts. Virgin was still sleeping with her head resting on the thigh of one of her legs. And so they fell asleep. But she was still conscious and awake with Penny.
"My goodness, so I won't ever need to sleep??" She told herself.

With Penny, Eva was rested, with full energy, she felt very well, and was surprised to have the rest of her body sleeping peacefully. It was a strange feeling. Especially since she didn't want to make any sudden movements that might wake her up.

Eva, through Penny's head, was sorely tempted to go back to her old ways.
"Why do I just feel like having sex all the time? It must be this head on top of a penis. I feel hornier than with the rest of heads..."

Her libido kept growing again, but she still controlled the rational part of her. She needed to rest, and deep down she was very worried about how she could save Alex.
An hour passed, in which Penny was bored to death.
"So many penises and vaginas, and I can't use them or I'll wake up...I have a huge urge...This head is definitely different...ummm...feels different. The truth is that I had a brutal time, penetrating myself with this penis..."

Penny's hands began to slip between the folds of skin at the tip of her until they reached the glans. Touching herself carefully, trying to not wake up any other head, she finally found the opening of her vagina at the end of her glans. And she absentmindedly began to caress herself.

"Mmmm... this feels so good... Damn, with this head I'm a vicious..."
Little by little, regardless of the consequences, her glans began to poke through her skin. The erection was served, only now she had a problem, the end was far away from her own arms.

"Wait a minute, I have a bunch of arms all over my body, what if I use them?"
Penny started to move to stay within range of her three torsos. She concentrated and tried to move Righty's arms, but then she noticed that Righty was starting to wake up...
"Oh shit, better not do it. I feel very tired with this head. So I am alone. Wow, I'll have to manage much better the hours of sleep, I can't sleep with all the heads except one, it's not practical."

She kept stroking what she could of the body of her penis, she was more and more horny, and therefore less and less rational.
"mm... I need to get there... I wish I had more arms around here... oh, what if... I still have vials left! maybe if I inject one right here, I can grow a pair of arms?"

Of course, if she had been awake with all her heads, she wouldn't have considered this seriously in a million years, but Penny's mind was something different, more basic, more primitive, and she was right now the only one aware of it. Maybe this was going to be a mistake.

Because sure enough, Penny went over to the briefcase, fully horny, and she picked up the two remaining vials.

"Oh shit, I'll need them for proof, won't I? In any case, with a vial it would be enough, they only need to analyze it, so with a few drops would be enough. Also, I have the gene, so I need 8 times more to mutate as I have done, I still need a lot of serum to mutate as I want... that's it, I'll leave half a vial just for testing"

And she did it! She didn't think about the true consequences. She just acted on instinct, moved by her libido totally out of control, in a rather childish way, and she injected an entire vial directly into her own neck.

"But since I'm here, maybe I could take the opportunity to mutate a little more?"

And with the other vial on her hand, she went up to his own back, into his main body, and she injected it, but with a bad move she emptied the syringe completely.

"shit! my finger!"

Within a few minutes Penny began to feel dizzy.

"What have I done! I'm stupid! I shouldn't have, but... it's like it's not me! oh, everything spins me, am I going to mutate again?"

Just a few moments later, Penny, and all Eva's heads fell into a deep sleep.

Unaware of the time that passed, Eva began to regain consciousness, but only in one head. She could feel most of her body, but at first she had strange sensations that she had not felt before, and that made her think that something had indeed changed. She began to feel a growing anxiety, as well as cold sweats in several places. She was beginning to be aware of what she had done. She had really committed the stupidity of injecting Alex's vials again?

She knew therefore that she had mutated again, there were new things, she could feel them! but it was all so confusing, she was still half asleep, she didn't even know which head she was using.